Description

The Vindö 40 is a Swedish design, built at Nötesunds Varv on Orust, the predecessor of the well-known Hallberg-Rassy yard. Many features are therefore similar. For example, the boat has a sturdy construction, which contributes to its durability and seaworthiness. The boat therefore sails very reliably, even when conditions get rougher. This makes the boat suitable for long passages and ocean sailing. With the varnished wooden deckhouse, white hull and teak deck, it has a charming and timeless appearance. The years of use can indeed be seen on the deck, but it is watertight.
The interior is cosy and ship-like. On entering, the galley is to port and the navigation area to starboard. Amidships is the saloon with settees on both sides and a table that can be lowered amidships. Forward is a double cabin, and to starboard aft a heads compartment. By lowering the saloon table, 2 additional berths can be created.
The boat has been lovingly maintained for many years and is always stored in a hall in winter. It was transported on a converted trailer, which can optionally be included. If you are looking for a beautifully lined classic yacht suitable for long voyages, then this Vindö 40 is an attractive choice. We warmly invite you to view the boat on board in Berkhout (NL), where it is stored in a shed.
